Goldilocks and the three bears pdf

Full Text This is Goldilocks. She is called Goldilocks because of her sproingy locks of golden hair. Goldilocks is an expert at skipping. Usually Goldilocks likes to skip around the pond, but today she decided to skip through the forest. Along the path she noticed the cutest, coziest cottage she had ever seen. "I wonder who lives in such a cute, cozy cottage," Goldilocks thought. Goldilocks skipped to the cottage for a closer look. She knocked on the door and was disappointed when no one answered. Then it hit her—the most wonderful smell she had ever smelled! "Porridge!" Goldilocks said dreamily as her stomach rumbled. "That smell is making me hungry! I don't think anyone would mind if I went in for a quick taste." She opened the door to the cottage. After all that skipping, Goldilocks was starving. Goldilocks went to the table, where she found three bowls of porridge. She tasted the first bowl. "Too sweet!" she said. Then she tasted the middle bowl. "Too cinnamony!" she said. Finally she tasted the last bowl. It was just right! "Wow! This is delicious porridge!" she said. After all that skipping and eating, Goldilocks wanted to sit down. Goldilocks looked around the cozy cottage and noticed three chairs. She sat in the first chair. "Too hard!" she said. Then she sat in the middle chair. "Too cushiony!" she said. Finally she sat in the last chair. It was just right! "This is the most comfortable chair ever!" she said. After all that skipping and eating and sitting, Goldilocks was feeling sleepy. She went into the next room and saw three beds. She flopped onto the first bed. "Too firm!" she said. Then she flopped onto the middle bed. "Too pillowy!" she said. Finally she flopped onto the last bed. It was just right! "Zzzzzzzzzzzzzzz!" she said. Meanwhile, three bears came in the door. "That was a fine skip through the forest," said the papa bear. "It's good to be home," said the mama bear. "I'm hungry!" said the little bear. The bears went over to the table, where they noticed something was different about their porridge. "Somebody's been eating my porridge," said the papa bear. "And somebody's been eating my porridge," said the mama bear. "Hey, my porridge is almost gone!" said the little bear. The bears ate what was left of their porridge and then went to sit down. They noticed something was different about their chairs. "Somebody's been sitting in my chair," said the papa bear. "And somebody's been sitting in my chair," said the mama bear. "Hey! My chair looks like a person!" said the little bear. After all that skipping and wondering about porridge and chairs, the bears were sleepy, and they headed to bed. They noticed something was different about their beds. "Somebody's been flopping in my bed," said the papa bear. "And somebody's been flopping in my bed," said the mama bear. "Hey! There's a girl in my bed!" said the little bear. Goldilocks opened one eye, then the other. She saw three bears staring at her. "Hello," said the little bear. "We're the bears that live here." "You are?" said Goldilocks, wide eyed. "Did you know that you have the best porridge, chair, and bed in the whole world?" "I think so too!" said the little bear. "You don't mind that I tried them?" asked Goldilocks. "No, I don't mind!" said the little bear. "Let's play!" The little bear invited Goldilocks to stay, and they laughed and had pillow fights all morning long. Learning Outcomes Goldilocks is a master of comparison: some things are too hard, too soft, too hot, or too cold while other things are just right! The story offers a perfect opportunity to talk about comparing with your child. Goldilocks and the Three Bears This week your child is learning the words promise, medium, porridge, and curious. The words come from Goldilocks and the Three Bears. Talk about the words with your child. You can listen to a version of the story below. Pinky promise Promise means to agree to do definitely something. Goldilocks made a promise not to go into a stranger's home. Large, Medium, Small Porridge Medium means not too large and not too small. (Show child the medium bowl of porridge.) Bowl of porridge Porridge is a type of soft hot cereal, like oatmeal. Curious George Curious means interested in something. Goldilocks is curious about the bears' house and porridge. Congratulations, you are helping your child grow a large vocabulary! Thanks to Artist, yehachan This is the fairy tale story of Goldilocks and the Three Bears with a modern twist. It is brought to you by Stories to Grow by. Check out our other great stories! Once upon a time a girl named Goldilocks lived in a house at the edge of the woods. In those days curls of hair were called "locks." She was "Goldilocks" because golden hair ran down her head and shoulders. One morning Goldilocks was out for a walk when she came across a beautiful bird. She followed that bird right into the woods, where her mother had said many times she must never go. But Goldilocks didn't think of that. Thanks to Artist, JoannaPasek Deeper and deeper into the woods she went. But where was the bird? It was nowhere to be seen. Goldilocks looked around. That's when she knew she was lost. But a house was not far away. "I wonder who lives there," she thought, "so deep into the woods." She went up and knocked on the door. No answer. She knocked again. Still no answer. Goldilocks knocked a third time and the door opened. But no one was behind the door. "Well, the door is already open," said the girl. "So I may as well go in." Goldilocks smelled a wonderful smell, and soon knew why. On the table were three steaming bowls of oatmeal. All of a sudden she realized how very hungry she was. What Goldilocks did not know, however, is that three bears lived in this house. In fact, that very morning the three bears had sat down to their bowls of oatmeal but the cereal was too hot. So they had decided to take a short walk. They said to each other, "By the time we return home our oatmeal will be perfect." Gazing at the steaming bowls of oatmeal, Goldilocks thought, "I'm sure whoever lives here won't mind if I take just one sip." She sat at the first chair and took a sip. "Ah!" she said, "it is too hot." She moved to the next bowl and took a sip. "Ah!" she said, "it is too cold." Thanks to Artist, JoannaPasek She moved to the third bowl and took a sip. "It is just right!" And before she knew it, the oatmeal was all gone. Goldilocks rubbed her tummy. "I'm full! I must find somewhere to sit that's more comfortable." She went to the living room. Three chairs were lined up in a row – one big chair, one medium-sized chair, and a wee little chair. "I'm sure whoever lives here will not mind if I sit on just one chair," said Goldilocks. She sat on the big chair, but it was too hard. "The next chair looks good," said Goldilocks. She moved to the medium-sized chair, but it was too soft. "The wee little chair looks better," said the girl. She sat on the little chair and it was just right! But when Goldilocks leaned back a bit, the chair broke into a dozen pieces. She plopped right on the floor. "Oh, no!" Goldilocks wailed. Then she yawned. There must be somewhere she could lie down for a short nap. The girl saw a ladder and climbed it to an attic. In a row, three beds were lined up – one big bed, one medium-sized bed, and a wee little bed. "I'm sure whoever lives here won't mind if I lay down for just a short nap," she said. She laid down on the big bed but it was too hard. She laid down on the medium-sized bed but it was too soft. The girl laid down on the wee little bed, and it was just right! As her head hit the pillow, Goldilocks was fast asleep. Just then, the three bears came home from their walk. "Dear me!" said Mama Bear. "Did either of you leave the front door open?" "Not I," said Papa Bear. "Not I," said Little Bear. Slowly the three bears stepped inside and looked around. "Most odd!" said Papa Bear, seeing his spoon in his bowl. "Someone has been eating my oatmeal!" "Most odd indeed!" said Mama Bear, also seeing her spoon in her bowl. "Someone has been eating my oatmeal!" "This is the most odd of all," said Little Bear. "Someone has been eating my oatmeal and they ate it all up!" The three bears were very surprised, as you can imagine. With care, they stepped into their living room. "Do you think someone was sitting in my chair?" said Papa Bear. "I know someone was sitting in my chair," said Mama Bear, "because I can see the seat cushion is pushed down." "And I know someone was sitting in my chair!" said Little Bear. "Because it's all broken!" Thanks to Artist, Joannapasek The three bears were even more surprised at that! They climbed the ladder to their attic. "Someone has been sleeping on my bed," said Papa Bear, who could see that his blankets were moved. "Someone has been sleeping on my bed, too," said Mama Bear, who could also see that her blankets were moved. "Someone has been sleeping on my bed," said Little Bear. "And look – she is still there!" Goldilocks bolted awake. Three bears were looming over her, and they did not look happy. Thanks to Artist, Joannapasek "Oh my!" said Goldilocks, jumping out of bed. As quick as she could, she climbed down the ladder and ran out the front door. Little Bear chased after her. "Wait, please!" Goldilocks stopped. She turned around. "Tell me," said Little Bear, "Why did you come inside our house?" "I guess I didn't think–," said Goldilocks. "And why did you eat my oatmeal?" said Little Bear. "Well I guess I didn't think–," said Goldilocks. "And why did you break my chair and sleep in my bed?" said Little Bear. "Well I guess I didn't think about that, either," said Goldilocks. They were silent. Goldilocks said, "I suppose I could have waited outside your door." "We were coming right home," said Mama Bear. "We might have invited you in if we knew you were hungry." "I'm sorry about the chair," said Goldilocks. "I guess you saw it broke." "Yep," said Mama Bear with a frown. "I'm good at fixing things," said Goldilocks, "If you have glue." "Of course we have glue!" said Papa Bear. "What kind of bears do you think we are?" "I will make it up to you!" said Goldilocks. "Come on in then, dear," said Mama Bear. "We'll start over," said Papa Bear with a nod. "Come in, come in!" said Little Bear, jumping up and down. With smiles, they skipped together inside the Bear's house. goldilocks and the three bears pdf. goldilocks and the three bears story. goldilocks and the three bears summary. goldilocks and the three bears british council. goldilocks and the three bears story with pictures. goldilocks and the three bears read aloud. goldilocks and the three bears youtube. goldilocks and the three bears activities
